INTRODUCTION

The Institute for International and Comparative Law of The Center for American and International Law will conduct the fortieth session of the Academy of American and International Law from June 1 through July 11, 2003.

The Academy will again provide an opportunity for people from outside the United States to study American and international legal and business institutions, with an emphasis on American law and process. The Academy is business oriented and addresses a wide range of law-related commercial transactions.

Participants will explore the role of law in the settlement of disputes and in the establishment of an orderly structure of international relations – both private and governmental.

Is this Program for You?

Yes...

... if you are from a country other than the United States and are interested in American and international law.

... if you are in the early stages of a career that may now or in the future include international law.

... if you wish a broad introduction to a variety of areas important to the practice of international business law, and to the law of the United States.

This is not a degree program and is not as comprehensive as a Master of Laws Program. It is not intended for the highly experienced international corporate lawyer or private practitioner. The Academy has attracted many lawyers who have gone on to prominent positions in their home countries. Our goal is to provide a forum for those who are among the "best and brightest" lawyers, giving them an opportunity to enhance their international knowledge and experience.

The faculty includes distinguished scholars and practicing lawyers with national and international experience in legal, business and public affairs. The program emphasizes practical approaches for people engaged in transnational legal and economic relationships.

In 2002, the Academy included 64 participants from 28 nations. The thirty-nine annual academies have collectively had more than 2,100 participants from 114 countries. Over the years, participants have included attorneys, judges, law professors, and government officials.

Benefits of the Academy are reciprocal. Participants acquire a deeper understanding of American institutions and of international law; at the same time, participants learn from one another, and the presence of the participants enriches the understanding of the many Americans who have the opportunity to meet them.

INTRODUCTION

Alumni Association

Our hope is that the Academy will be much more than a six-week course of study, and that it will be the beginning of a life-long affiliation for each participant with The Center for American and International Law and with friends made during the Academy. All participants become members of the Academy Alumni Association. In addition to the worldwide Alumni Association, regional groups exist in Europe, the Philippines, and South America, and an alumni group is being organized in Africa.

INTRODUCTION

The Center for American and International Law

The Academy is conducted by the Institute for International and Comparative Law, a division of The Center for American and International Law. The Center, organized in 1947, is recognized as a major national and international forum for continuing legal and professional education.

The Center conducts its programs primarily through its institutes. In addition to the Institute for International and Comparative Law, they include the Institute for Transnational Arbitration, the Institute for Energy Law, the Institute for Continuing Legal Education, the Institute for Local Government Studies, the Institute for Law and Technology, the Institute for Litigation Studies and the Institute for Law Enforcement Administration.

The Institute for International and Comparative Law

Established in 1963 as a division of The Center for American and International Law, the Institute for International and Comparative Law seeks to promote the rule of law in international transactions. The Institute's membership is listed beginning on page 92. With an emphasis on international business transactions, the Institute's programs involve a consideration of practical issues that confront lawyers and executives in the international community. Lecturers are drawn not only from academia but also from the world of international law practice.

The Institute's programs — the Symposium on Private Investments Abroad and the Academy of American and International Law — are offered annually. The Academy of American and International Law is highlighted in this catalogue. The Symposium on Private Investments Abroad provides a prominent annual forum for lawyers, business leaders and government officials to learn about legal aspects of economic growth made possible by international private investments. Begun more than a quarter century ago, the Symposium has been attended by thousands of lawyers from around the world. It serves to facilitate an understanding of the increasingly complex laws and political realities that influence international business relationships. Academy participants attend the Symposium as part of the Academy curriculum.

One of the highlights of the 2001 Academy was a trip to Austin, Texas - and a meeting with Texas Supreme Court Justice Nathan Hecht, right.

ADMISSIONS

Admission Process

Admission to the Academy of American and International Law is based upon materials submitted by the applicant and other available data. The Admissions Committee reserves the right to reject any applicant without statement of reason.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a college degree and experience in one of the following fields: public service, law, economics, journalism, teaching, or business. They must reside or have domicile outside the United States. Applicants must demonstrate substantial ability to read, speak and understand the English language.

Applications

An application form is provided at the back of this catalogue. Applications must be received by March 14, 2003 in writing in English to the Admissions Committee, Academy of American and International Law, The Center for American and International Law, P.O. Box 799030, Dallas, Texas U.S.A. 75379-9030. Fax: (972) 244-3401.

4. Two letters of recommendation in English from lawyers, judges, professors or employers. The letters of recommendation should indicate the applicant's qualifications and the significance of participation in the Academy of American and International Law to the applicant's future career.

Applications should be submitted as early as possible, but not later than March 14, 2003.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Tuition

Tuition for the six-week course is $8,000. A deposit of $1,000 must be made by May 29, 2003.

Living Accommodations and Expenses

Arrangements have been made for the 2003 Academy participants to be housed at the Residence Inn, a Marriott property that is located close to the headquarters of the Center for American and International Law.

We believe it is very important for all Academy participants to stay in the same location. The amenities available at the Residence Inn are excellent. Every guest will receive:

- ▶ A full hot breakfast each morning
- ▶ Complimentary drinks and hors d'oeuvres Monday - Thursday evenings
- ▶ Daily maid service
- ▶ Free grocery pick-up service
- ▶ Well-equipped kitchen in your room
- ▶ On-site swimming pool, spa, sport court and work-out facility
- ▶ Complimentary passes to the local YMCA (a superb sport facility with a soccer field)
- ▶ Data port and voice mail
- ▶ Complimentary transportation in the immediate area (five mile radius)
- ▶ Transportation to and from classes each day
- ▶ Washers and dryers on site (not complimentary)

Two room rates are available;

- ▶ $61 per person per day pays for a private bedroom and bathroom, and a shared living room and shared fully equipped kitchen.
- ▶ $92 per day pays for a private one-bedroom suite including a living room, a fully equipped kitchen and a bathroom.

Tax is an additional 13% and is subject to change. Participants who stay at the Residence Inn for 30 consecutive days are exempt from the 13% tax. For more information about the hotel, please see its website at:

www.residenceinnplano.com

Payment for rooms is made directly to the Residence Inn once a week. However, initial hotel arrangements are handled by our staff and coordinated with the Residence Inn. In addition, there will be incidental expenses, including the cost of food. Lunches during class days may be purchased for approximately $5 to $10 per day.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Payments and Refunds

Make checks or money orders for tuition payable to The Center for American and International Law and mail to: The Center for American and International Law, P.O. Box 799030, Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. 75379-9030. In the alternative, funds may be wired to JP Morgan Chase Bank, 100 N. Central Expressway, Richardson, TX 75080, Account No. 36006309868, ABA #113000609, in the name of The Center for American and International Law. Please identify the APPLICANT on all checks or wire transfers.

Deposits and other payments will not be refunded for registrations cancelled after May 30, 2003.

Visa Information

Academy participants should apply to the American Consulate for a Visitor's Visa (B-1 Classification). We do not issue a Certificate of Eligibility. To enhance the processing of your application for a visa, you should submit a letter from your employer (or from yourself, if you are self-employed) that states: your name and address, how long you have been employed, that you have permission to attend the Academy of American and International Law, and that you will be returning to work for your employer following the Academy. You should also submit to the American Consulate your letter from President Ellwanger admitting you to the Academy.

Fellowships

Fellowships are available for only a limited number of applicants. Fellowships usually include only tuition, and not room and board. Applicants who wish to apply for a fellowship should state the reason for seeking the fellowship in a statement that is submitted with the general Academy application. Transportation to and from the applicant's home country is not provided by the Academy, except as described in the section on Jackson and Ray Fellowships.

The Victor Folsom Fellowships

The Center for American and International Law offers four annual Victor Folsom fellowships to the Academy of American and International Law. These fellowships include tuition, a double-occupancy room and a stipend for meals. If a single occupancy room is desired, the Folsom fellow pays the difference in price. To help ensure diversity within the Academy class, the four fellowships will be given on a regional basis. One will be awarded to an applicant from Latin America, one to an applicant from Africa, one to an applicant from Europe, and one to an applicant from Asia.

Applicants will be evaluated on their career and educational achievements. The Admissions Committee will select the recipients from among all the Academy applicants.

GENERAL INFORMATION

There is no need to apply for this fellowship because every applicant will be considered.

Victor Folsom, who died in 1995, and his wife Vicki were long-time supporters of The Center for American and International Law and its Academy of American and International Law Center. Mr. Folsom chaired the Center's Institute for International and Comparative Law's Advisory Board and lectured for many years in the Academy. He had an opportunity to meet and know many Academy participants, and developed friendships around the world. Through the Folsom's generosity, the Academy experience will be more readily available to future generations of international lawyers.

Jackson and Ray Fellowships

The Center for American and International Law has established the John N. Jackson and George W. Ray, Jr. Fellowships. These fellowships may be used to assist Academy participants in attending the Academy. In awarding these fellowships, the President of the Center gives preference to qualified applicants from developing nations or countries with stringent currency exchange controls who would be unable to attend the Academy without assistance in paying travel costs.

Funds for Jackson and Ray Fellowships are extremely limited. In some years, no such awards are made. Applicants who wish to be considered for these limited awards should send a written request stating in detail the assistance they seek and the reasons why that assistance is needed.

Among the very best. Each year, the Admissions Committee selects one Academy participant from Africa, one from Asia, one from Europe and one from Latin America to be Folsom scholars. The Committee's intent is to identify the best participant from each continent. In 2002, there were three Folsom Fellows in attendance, and they are pictured left to right: Irahlyn Sacupayo-Lariba of the Philippines; Jose Manuel Simian of Chile; and Gjin Gjoni of Albania. The fourth Folsom Fellow, Wycliffe Birungi of Uganda, was unable to attend because of a death in his family.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Robert G. Storey International Award for Leadership

Dean Robert G. Storey was the founder and first President of The Center for American and International Law. Among his many honors and distinctions, Dean Storey was President of the Center, Dean of the Southern Methodist University Law School and President of both the American Bar Association and the Inter-American Bar Association. In recognition of his dedication to peace, justice and the rule of law in the international community, The Center for American and International Law has established the Robert G. Storey International Award for Leadership.

The Storey Award is presented to a former participant in the Academy of American and International Law who has exhibited the qualities of leadership and integrity that were embodied in Dean Storey. It is funded by the Robert G. Storey Endowment Fund, and nominees are evaluated on the basis of the leadership they have shown in their home countries, their contribution to the international legal community, their personal integrity and their commitment to justice and the rule of law. The award will normally be presented during the Academy of American and International Law.

The first Storey Award was presented in 1990 to Chief Justice Marcelo B. Fernan of the Philippines. Chief Justice Fernan was a 1974 participant in the Academy of American and International Law. Since then, the Storey Award has been presented to Mochtar Kusuma-Atmadja of Indonesia, a 1968 Academy participant and a former Minister of Justice of his country; Antonio Brancaccio, a 1967 Academy participant and the Chief Justice of Italy's Supreme Court of Cassation; Sergio Abreu, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Uruguay and a 1980 participant in the Academy; Rene Blattmann, the Minister of Justice of Bolivia, who attended the Academy in 1980; Raul I. Goco, Solicitor General of the Philippines and a 1967 Academy participant; Antonio Cassese, President of the U.N. International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia, who attended the Academy in 1970; and Didier Opperti, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Uruguay and subsequently President of the United Nations General Assembly. The 2001 recipient was Kunio Hamada who is the first president of the Asia Pacific Bar Association and Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Japan.

The Dallas Experience

Education, of course, takes place both inside and outside the classroom. A substantial effort is made to introduce Academy participants to the Dallas community. Each participant has the opportunity to be paired with a local host from the Dallas Committee for International Visitors, or the Dallas Association of Young Lawyers. These local hosts meet with the participants and provide a first-hand introduction to life in Dallas.

The Academy schedule also includes a variety of extracurricular activities. Participants will frequently attend a rodeo, a major league baseball game, and a Texas barbeque. In addition, they are invited to a tour and reception at a Dallas law firm and a major international corporation. Our goal is to introduce Academy participants not only to the study of American and international law, but also to the people of the United States.

Attendance and Certificates

Attendance at sessions of the Academy is mandatory. To receive a certificate of participation, participants may miss no more than a total of one day of class, unless the absence is due to documented illness or unless approval is obtained prior to the commencement of the Academy from the President of the Center. In addition, a requirement for successful completion is attendance at the Farewell Luncheon on July 11. Certificates will be awarded only to persons who attend the Farewell Luncheon.

Further, participants who miss more than a total of three days of class will be dismissed from the Academy unless the absence is due to documented illness or unless approval is obtained prior to the commencement of the Academy from the President of the Center.

The 2003 Storey Award will be presented during the Academy, and Academy participants attend the Storey Award activities. This is an important Academy event and all participants are required to attend.

Please note that the Academy begins with an afternoon Orientation Session on Sunday, June 1 and concludes with the Farewell Luncheon on Friday, July 11. Attendance at the Orientation is required. Participants must plan their schedules so that they arrive in time to attend the 3:00 p.m. Orientation Session and depart after the conclusion of the Farewell Luncheon. No departing flight should be scheduled before 5:00pm on July 11.

A special moment at the 2001 Academy. Meeting as the Alumni Association of the Academy of American and International Law, the 2001 participants elected Bernardo Porras, right, of Uruguay as Secretary General and Thomas Mihayo of Tanzania as Deputy Secretary General.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

ADMINISTRATIVE AND ENVIRONMENTAL LAW.....Prof. Elliott

This session will focus on administrative law, which is the public law and procedure applicable to government agencies, and illustrate the application of administrative law concepts to U.S. federal laws relating to the environment and pollution. Specific topics covered include procedures for making law by executive branch agencies, and judicial review of government decisions in court, including grounds for review and standing of persons to seek review. Environmental laws considered include the Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Superfund and others.

ADVISING AND COUNSELING CLIENTSProf. Salacuse

A consideration of the methods and approaches used by lawyers to advise clients effectively.

BANKING LAWProf. Norton

Overview of the evolvement of the New International Financial Architecture in light of on-going globalization of financial markets, financial crisis and terrorism. Both policy and practical impacts will be explored.

BUSINESS ORGANIZATION AND

REGULATORY LEGISLATIONProf. Siegel

Major forms of business organizations, including multinational enterprises, their advantages and disadvantages, tax implications, general procedures for formation, financing, control, operation, and dissolution; overview of laws regulating business enterprises, including state, federal, and international regulatory agencies; securities regulation; stock markets and trading.

COMMERCIAL AND CONSUMER LAWProf. Winship

Major aspects of the commercial and consumer law of the United States, with particular attention to the law of sales and leasing of goods, negotiable instruments, funds transfers, letters of credit, and secured transactions as governed by the Uniform Commercial Code and relevant federal legislation. Attention will also be given to the law applicable to transnational commercial transactions.

U.S. and COMPARATIVE ANTITRUST LAWSProf. Kauper

The federal antitrust laws of the United States, with emphasis upon the Sherman Act, the Clayton Act, and the Federal Trade Commission Act; their origin, history, philosophy, and extraterritorial application; antitrust law of the European Union and of nation-states other than the United States; proposals for international codes; existing international cooperation and the necessity of accommodation.

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

OF THE UNITED STATESDean Attanasio

The doctrine of constitutional supremacy and judicial review; the doctrine of separation of powers, including discussion of the organization, functioning, and powers of the three branches of the federal government; relationships between federal and state governments; interstate commerce; due process of law; substantive civil and political rights.

CONTRACT LAWProf. Gray

Introduction to the case and statute law of contract in the United States, including some comparison with doctrinal concepts and classifications in civil law countries; discussion of the relationship of contract and tort law in areas such as products liability, and survey of basic problems of drafting contracts in a foreign legal language.

ELECTRONIC COMMERCE LAWProf. Winn

Legal Fundamentals of borderless E-Commerce; online contract formation — business and consumer perspectives; electronic payment systems; jurisdiction, choice of law and conflicts; privacy; operating a commercial Website — domain names, hosting and content licensing agreements; electronic records and evidence.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY.....Mr. Smegal and Prof. Leaffer

Consideration of origin and acquisition of patent, trademark, copyright, and trade secret rights and enforcement of such rights in the United States, as well as a comparison of such rights in other jurisdictions.

INTERNATIONAL TAX LAWProf. Gustafson

The profits from transactions involving international trade and investment are almost always subject to potential income taxation by at least two countries. While everyone does not have the time and inclination to become a tax specialist, no one involved in the negotiation, structuring or implementation of international transactions can afford to be unaware of at least the principal considerations that attend the taxation of those transactions. This course will provide a basic introduction to the methods used by the United States and other governments to tax the income of international transactions (trade, investment and labor), consider the economic and political implications of different approaches to international taxation and explore some of the techniques that have been developed to mitigate tax burdens on income derived from such transactions.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS NEGOTIATIONProf. Salacuse

The fundamentals of international business negotiation, both as a process for arranging transactions and for resolving disputes, including basic negotiating principles, the special problems common to international business negotiations, the phases of a negotiation, negotiating strategies, the effect of culture on negotiations, third-party intervention in the negotiation process, and the problem of renegotiation.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS TRANSACTIONSProf. Salacuse

An examination of the principal forms of transacting international business, including international sales contracts, distributorships and representation agreements, technology transfers, direct foreign investments, and joint ventures. The course will consider the international, national, and contractual legal aspects of each type of transaction, including such matters as relevant treaties, applicable national laws and regulations, international payment methods, currency clauses, dispute settlement, sovereign immunity, and options for structuring the transactions themselves.

INTERNATIONAL COMMERCIAL ARBITRATIONProf. Salacuse

The fundamentals of international commercial arbitration, including the reasons for its growth as a preferred method of international business dispute resolution; arbitration agreements and their enforcement; the arbitral process; a survey of arbitration centers and systems; the enforcement of arbitral awards; the relevance of international treaties, particularly the United Nations Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral Awards.

INTERNATIONAL LITIGATION IN U.S. COURTS.....Prof. Zamora and Ms. Ryan Robertson

The course will provide a general introduction to conflicts of law principles (private international law) followed by U.S. courts, including discussion of the following subjects: jurisdiction to prescribe applicable law; jurisdiction to adjudicate jurisdiction over the subject matter and over the parties) judicial abstention doctrines, such as forum non conveniens and the Act of State Doctrine; application of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act; recognition of foreign judgments; and the application in the United States of international conventions on service of process and on the taking of evidence abroad.

INTRODUCTION TO LAWYER ETHICS AND PROFESSIONALISMMr. Doleac

The course will provide a general introduction to the role of a lawyer in the United States adversarial legal system through ethical codes and professional values. Participants will be asked to identify possible counterpart ethical codes and professional values in their own countries. The course will explore ethical principles and professional values for international lawyers.

INTRODUCTION TO LITIGATIONJudge Lynn

A survey of the litigation process, including jurisdiction in state and federal courts; alternative dispute resolution; jury and judge trials; motion practice; enforcement of judgments; and appeals.

LEGAL ACCOUNTINGProf. Siegel

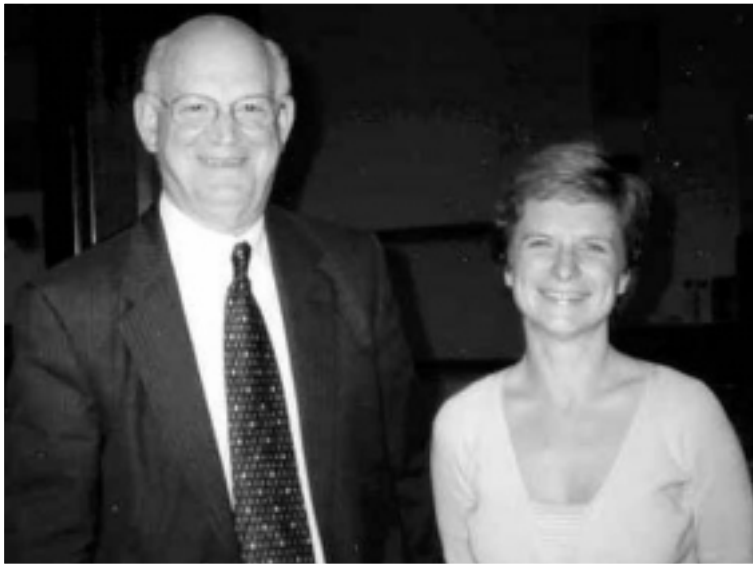

PRODUCTS LIABILITY LAW IN THE U.S.Dean Powers

The elements and defenses to a products liability claim; difference between products liability law and contractual warranties; punitive damages; personal jurisdiction; venue and forum non conveniens.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

Antitrust guru Tom Kauper, former Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice and currently the Henry M. Butzel Professor of Law at the University of Michigan Law School, taught Antitrust Law to the 2002 Academy class. He is shown below with Academy participant Caroline Hanotiau of Belgium.

FACULTY

JOHN B. ATTANASIO is Dean and the William Hawley Atwell Professor of Constitutional Law at Southern Methodist University's Dedman School of Law. A former dean of the St. Louis University School of Law, he has also taught at the University of Pittsburgh School of Law and Notre Dame Law School. At Notre Dame, Dean Attanasio served as the John M. Regan, Jr. Director for the Joan B. Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies. A 1990 Fulbright Award recipient, Dean Attanasio delivered lectures on American constitutional law in Moscow and throughout the former Soviet Union. He has advised various legislative and judicial officials in the emerging democracies of Bulgaria, the former Czechoslovakia, Russia, Estonia, Hungary and South Africa. He is the co-author of both Constitutional Law and Understanding Constitutional Law. Dean Attanasio received a diploma in law from the University of Oxford and an LLM from Yale University.

CHARLES B. DOLEAC is a partner in the Portsmouth, New Hampshire law firm of Boynton, Waldron, Doleac, Woodman & Scott, and a court-appointed mediator for the New Hampshire Superior Courts. A graduate of the University of New Hampshire and New York University Law School, he is a past recipient of a National Endowment of the Humanities Professions Fellowship to study the role of the legal profession. Mr. Doleac has served for many years as a moderator and developer of programs at the Aspen Institute. He is certified by the Josephson Institute's applied ethics program, and has developed and moderated applied ethics programs for lawyers, court-appointed mediators, and law enforcement professionals in the United States and Canada.

E. DONALD ELLIOTT is a professor at Yale Law School. He received his undergraduate and law degrees from Yale and was a Carnegie Fellow there. Professor Elliott has served as General Counsel of the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency. Since 1996, he has also been a partner in the law firm of Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker in Washington, D.C. Professor Elliot teaches courses in administrative law and environmental law, toxic chemicals, torts, administrative law, constitutional law and complex civil litigation, and is a member of the editorial board of the Journal of Industrial Ecology.

JUDGE DAVID EVANS is Judge of the 193rd Judicial District Court, Dallas County, Texas. He is a member of the Curriculum Committee for the Texas Center for the Judiciary and has served as an Instructor at the Texas College for Judicial Studies. He received his law degree from Southern Methodist University, where he was Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Air Law & Commerce. Judge Evans has served as an Adjunct Instructor in Law at the Trial Techniques Program at Emory University Law School and was formerly associated with the Dallas, Texas law firm of Haynes and Boone.

FACULTY

WHITMORE GRAY is Emeritus Professor of Law at the University of Michigan Law School in Ann Arbor, Michigan, Visiting Professor of Law at Fordham University School of Law in New York and serves as a consultant on international contract and arbitration matters. Professor Gray is a former Editor-in-Chief of the Michigan Law Review (1956-1957), and has been a Visiting Professor at Stanford, Muenster, Tubingen, Kyoto, Mexico City, Tokyo and Changchun, China. Once again, BP America hosted the Academy of American and International Law at a Texas Rangers baseball game. Norm Nadorff, left, represented BP and is shown with, left to right, Academy participants Flavia Altit (Brazil), Fredrik Norburg (Sweden) who was elected Class Spokesperson; and Lucy Adriani (Indonesia).

An international family. Participants in the 2001 Academy came from 41 nations. A large group is shown here during a trip to Fort Worth.
